THE object of this work is to present to both citizens and strangers a Guide to the Great Metropolis of the United States, executed in the best style, and to be purchased at a small cost.

It is the intention of the Publisher to issue this work annually, and to render it, in every respect, deserving of patronage.

To accomplish his wishes in this particular, he will cheerfully devote his energies, sustained therein, as he believes he will be, by that generous community to whose kind regards this little volume is now most respectfully submitted by

THE PUBLISHER.

Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1844, by JOHN DOUGGETT, JR.

In the Clerk's Office of the District Court for the Southern District of New York.

ALMANAC FOR THE YEAR 1845.

Being the latter part of the 69th, and the beginning of the 70th, year of the Independence of the United States of America; and 6568th year of the Julian Period; and the latter part of the 5605th, and the beginning of the 5606th year, since the creation of the world, according to the Jews; and the 2598th year, since the foundation of Rome, according to Varro; and the latter part of the 1260th, and the beginning of the 1261th (lunar) year, since the Hegira, or flight of Mahomet.

EXPLANATION OF THE CALENDAR COLUMNS.

The 1st column gives the Day of the Month.

The 2d column gives the Day of the Week.

The 3d (double column) gives the time of Sunrise and Sunset.

The 4th column gives the Length of Days.

The 5th column gives the Sun's Declination at Greenwich, M. Noon.

The 6th column gives the Equation of Time at Washington, M. Noon.

The 7th column gives the time of the Moon's Rising and Setting.

The 8th column gives the time of the Moon's Southing.

The 9th column gives the Moon's Age in Days.

The 10th column gives the Moon's sign of the Zodiac.

The 11th (double) column gives the Morning and Evening Tide at New York.

The Astronomical computations for this Almanac are given generally for Mean Time at New York.

The time of the Sun's Rising and Setting, and the Length of Days, have reference to the Sun's Upper Limb, corrected for Refraction. The Moon's Rising and Setting are also given for the Upper Limb, corrected for Parallax and Refraction.

ECLIPSES AND TRANSIT OF MERCURY.

In 1845 there will be four Eclipses—two of the Sun and two of the Moon—and a Transit of Mercury.

I. An Annular Eclipse of the Sun, May 6th, partially visible at New York.

	d.	h.	m.
Sun rises eclipsed, May 6th,	4	52	Morn.	} Mean Time at New York.
End of Eclipse,	5	5	"

Magnitude of the Eclipse at Sunrise= 2° on Sun's North Limb.

This Eclipse will be visible throughout the greater portion of Europe, and in the North-eastern portion of the United States; it will, therefore, be peculiarly valuable for determining longitudes in this country.

II. A Transit of Mercury, May 8th, visible at New York.

	d.	h.	m.
Ingress, May 8th,	11	23	M.	} Mean Time at New York.
Egress,	5	53	A.

III. A Total Eclipse of the Moon, May 21st, invisible at New York.

IV. An Annular Eclipse of the Sun, October 30th, invisible at New York. This Eclipse will be visible in the Southern Ocean, Australia, New Zealand and South Victoria.

V. A Partial Eclipse of the Moon, November 13th, visible at New York.

	d.	h.	m.
Beginning, November 13th,	6	14
End,	9	32

Magnitude of the Eclipse= $11^{\circ} 2'$ on the Moon's North Limb.

The Planet MERCURY may be seen for a few evenings about the 17th of April, and for a few mornings about the 27th of September. VENUS will be the Morning Star from the beginning of the year to its superior conjunction with the Sun, May 16th, then Evening Star to the end of the year. This Planet will be at its greatest brilliancy December 21st, when it may be seen in clear weather through most of the day, about two hours and three quarters behind the Sun. MARS will be Morning Star to its opposition, August 18th, then Evening Star to the end of the year. JUPITER will be Morning Star from its conjunction, April 6th, to its opposition, October 29th, and Evening Star the remainder of the year, before its conjunction and after its opposition.

Description of the City of New York.

(The facts chiefly from McCulloch's Gazetteer.)

Location of the City, Population, &c.

NEW YORK CITY, the principal city of the State of New York, and in population, wealth, and commerce, the largest city in the United States, deserves to be denominated the London of America. The City Hall is in $40^{\circ} 42' 40''$ N. lat., and $74^{\circ} 1' 8''$ W. long. from Greenwich, and $3^{\circ} 0' 16''$ E. long. from Washington. It is 86 miles N. E. Philadelphia, 210 m. S. W. Boston, 225 m. N. E. Washington, 670 m. N. E. Charleston, 145 m. S. Albany, 372 m. S. Montreal, 1370 m. N. E. New Orleans.

The Population, in 1790, was 33,131; in 1800, 60,489; in 1810, 96,373; in 1820, 123,706; in 1830, 202,589; in 1840, 312,710. Employed in commerce, 11,365; in manufactures and trades, 43,390; in navigating the ocean, 2,786; do. rivers and canals, 716; in the learned professions, 2,929.

There are not more than five or six cities in Europe more populous than New York, viz., London, Paris, Constantinople, St. Petersburg, Naples, and perhaps Vienna.

The compact part of the city is situated on the south end of New York or Manhattan island, at the confluence of Hudson or North river, with a strait called East river, which connects Long Island Sound with the harbor of New York. The chartered limits of the city embrace the whole island, which is of the same extent with the county. The island extends from the Battery, on the S. point of the island, 13 1-3 m. to Kingsbridge, in its N. part; and has an average breadth of 1 m. and three-fifths. The greatest breadth is on the line of 88th street, where its breadth is about 2 1-3 m., and it contains about 14,000 acres. It is bounded on the N. by Harlem river or strait, the western part of which, from Kingsbridge to the Hudson, was named by the Dutch Spuyten Duyvel creek; on the E. by East river or strait, which separates it from Long Island; on the S. by the harbor; and on the W. by Hudson river, which separates it from New Jersey. It is connected with the main land on the N. by three bridges, Harlem bridge, Macomb's bridge, and King's bridge.

The Harbor—Its Islands, Forts, &c.

The harbor of New York is spacious and safe, the inner harbor extending 8 miles from the Narrows to the city, and several miles further up both the North and East Rivers, but particularly the latter. Besides this, it has an outer harbor, extending from the Narrows to Sandy Hook, consisting of Raritan bay. Sandy Hook, on which is a light-house, is 18 miles from the city; and at this point there are 27 feet of water on the bar at high tide, and 21 feet at low tide. Within Sandy Hook, there is a good anchorage. The harbor is entered not only from the ocean at Sandy Hook and through the Narrows, but on the north-east from Long Island Sound, and on the south-west through the Kills and Staten Island Sound.

Several islands within the inner harbor are attached to the city, which are Governor's, Bedlow's, and Ellis' Islands, on all of which are strong fortifications; and Blackwell's, Great Barn, and Randall's Islands, in the East River. Governor's Island is 3200 feet from the city at the Battery, and includes 70 acres of ground. It contains Fort Columbus, in the form of a star on the south of the island, and Castle William on the north-west point, which is a round tower, 600 feet in circumference and 60 feet high, with three tiers of guns. There is also a battery on the north-west side, commanding the entrance through Buttermilk channel. At the Narrows, on the eastern shore of Long Island, are Fort Hamilton and Fort Lafayette, the latter of which (formerly called Fort Diamond) is built on a reef of rocks, 200 yards from the shore. The Narrows, here about one third of a mile wide, has on Staten Island, on its west side, Fort Tompkins and Fort Richmond, which are strong fortifications. The entrance from the Sound on East River is defended by Fort Schuyler on Throg's Neck. On Governor's Island are houses for the officers, and barracks which are occupied by a considerable garrison. On the whole, the harbor of New York must be considered as well defended, and in a very different state from what it was during the last war with Great Britain. If even then they did not venture to approach New York, much less would they do it now, in case of war, which it is hoped may not occur. After passing the bar at Sandy Hook, the channel to the city has a depth of water of from 35 to 50 feet. The average tide at the wharves is from 6 to 7 feet. Steamboats are constantly employed in towing vessels to and from the ocean. The safest and best portion of the harbor, and where the vessels chiefly lie, is along East River, where there is rarely any obstruction from ice. The tide sweeps through this part with a strong and rapid current; and in the winter of 1844, when the harbor of Boston and the west part of Long Island Sound were much obstructed with ice, no inconvenience was felt at New York. The excellence of its harbor, and other great natural advantages, have contributed to make it the second commercial city on the globe.

Improvements—Widening of Streets, &c.

The surface of the island of Manhattan was originally uneven and rough, as is, now the case in the northern parts, with occasional low valleys and marshy swamps; but the hills in the southern part of the island have been levelled, and the swamps and marshes filled up. Many creeks and inlets on the margins of the rivers have also disappeared, and the large ledge of rocks which occupied the site of the Battery, has long since been buried beneath the made ground which constitutes that beautiful promenade. The water line has been materially altered from what it originally was. A large part of Water, Front, and South streets on the East river, and of Greenwich, Washington, and West streets on the Hudson river in the south part of the city, occupy ground which has been made by filling in these rivers. The most elevated ground on the island is 238 feet above tide water. The city which is built, extends over three miles on each river, and the compact part has a circumference of over nine miles. But its limits are continually extending, and will soon greatly surpass these boundaries. The streets were originally laid out according to the make of the ground, and some of them were crooked; and in imitation of European cities, many of them were narrow. But in later times they have been widened and improved at a great expense. It seemed a little barbarous at the time, to cut off 20 feet from valuable houses by the row; but when these improvements were effected, the proprietors themselves found occasion to be well satisfied with the change. By these improvements, many fine streets have been made of those which before were unsightly and inconvenient. As instances of this among others, John street and West Broadway may be particularly mentioned, as well as many others.

Had the forecast of William Penn been concerned in originally laying out the city of New York, millions of dollars might have been saved. But it should be recollected that he had a more smooth and even surface to work upon. He expected that he was laying out a great city for posterity; but the first inhabitants of New York never expected that it would be what it now is, and is likely to become. In latter times care has been taken to lay out the streets straight, and of an ample width. This is particularly true of all the northern part of the city, which was laid out under the direction of Gouverneur Morris, De Witt Clinton, and others, commissioners appointed by the Legislature for this purpose, and surveyed by Mr. John Randall, Jr., completed in 1821, after having occupied ten years. No city can exhibit a more beautiful plan than this portion of the city of New York, which extends to 154th street, about ten miles north of the Battery.

The Principal Streets—Description of.

Broadway—Extends from the Battery nearly three miles, to Union Square, where it joins the Fourth Avenue. It is 80 feet wide, perfectly straight, occupies the height of land between the two rivers, and has generally, particularly in its southern part, an excellent drainage. It is well built, with many fine houses, and numerous large retail stores. It is the great promenade of the city, and much resorted to in pleasant weather by the gay and fashionable.

Pearl Street—Between Broadway and the East river, is in a crescent form, over a mile long, and is the principal seat of the wholesale dry goods and hardware business, which has also extended into Cedar, Pine, and other adjacent streets.

Water and Front Streets—Between Pearl Street and the East river, are occupied chiefly by wholesale grocers, commission merchants, and mechanics connected with the shipping business.

South Street—Extends along the margin of East river, and contains the warehouses and offices of the principal shipping merchants. In front of it there is, at all times, a dense forest of masts.

Wall Street—Extends from Broadway to the East river, and is occupied by banks, insurance offices, newspaper and brokers' offices: has Trinity Church at its head, the Custom House and Merchants' Exchange, and many fine granite buildings, which has caused it to be sometimes denominated the granite street. It is the centre of the heaviest money transactions in the United States.

The Bowery—Is a wide and extensive street east of Broadway, running north and south, connected with Avenue Third which is macadamized to Harlem, and forms the principal entrance to the city from the north-east.

East Broadway—And parallel to it Madison, Henry, and Monroe Streets, running a little north of east and south of west, are broad and straight streets, and handsomely built.

Bleecker, Bond, and other streets in the northern part of the city are beautifully built, and have become fashionable streets for residences.

Canal Street—Half a mile north of the City Hall, and now much below the centre of the population, is a wide street with a large covered canal under it, is occupied extensively by stores, and the seat of an extensive retail business. It crosses Broadway nearly at right angles, and extends to Hudson river. In the year 1800, the site of this street was extensively occupied by a large pond, called Fresh Water, or the Collect, which received the drainage of 400 acres of ground. This was the northern limit of Broadway in 1801, and much beyond the thickly settled part of the city.

Greenwich Street—A long, wide, and nearly straight street, extends north from the Battery nearly two miles and a-half, parallel to Hudson river, has many stores and fine buildings.

Hudson Street, east of Greenwich, and parallel to it, is wide and straight, extends from Chambers Street to Avenue Ninth, over a mile and three quarters long, and well built in many of its parts.

Chatham Street—Named in honor of the Earl of Chatham, extends from Broadway to Chatham Square, at the commencement of the Bowery. It is a great thoroughfare, and particularly distinguished for its numerous clothing stores.

Grand, Broome, and Houston Streets—Are extensive and important streets, north of the centre of the city.

Croton Water Works.

The cheapest and most convenient mode of visiting the Distributing Reservoir in Fortieth Street, or the Receiving Reservoir, in Eighty Sixth Street, is by the cars of the Harlem Rail Road, which leave the depot, at the junction of Chatham and Centre Streets, opposite the City Hall, every fifteen minutes during the day.

No stranger should leave the commercial metropolis till he has visited one or both of the reservoirs of the most splendid and extensive public work of modern times. It was at first estimated that it would cost five or six millions of dollars; and at the city charter election of 1835, the citizens were required to vote for or against supplying the city in this way. The whole number of votes given was 17,330, of whom 5,963 were against it, and 11,367 in favor of it. It was probably a happy circumstance that it was not then known how much it would ultimately cost; as, after having experienced its great advantages, no one now regrets its construction. The aqueduct commences at the Croton river, five miles from the Hudson river, in Westchester county.

The minimum flow of water in the river, where the dam is constructed, is considered to be twenty-seven millions of gallons for every twenty-four hours, which would be a sufficient supply for one million of inhabitants. It is considered that the supply for the present is abundant, even during a season of drought, for one million and a-half of inhabitants, nearly five times the present population; and streams can be found which can be turned into the upper branches of the Croton, if the time ever arrives when the population of the city will require an increased supply.

The velocity of the water in the aqueduct has been ascertained to be about one mile and a-half an hour where it is two feet deep.

The Dam—Is 250 feet long, 70 feet wide at bottom, and 7 feet at top, and 40 feet high, built of stone and cement. It creates a pond five miles long, covering a surface of 400 acres, and contains 500,000,000 gallons of water.

The Aqueduct proceeds from the dam, sometimes tunnelling through solid rocks, crossing valleys by embankments, and brooks by culverts, until it reaches Harlem river, a distance of thirty-three miles. It is built of stone, brick, and cement, arched over and under, six feet three inches wide at bottom, seven feet eight inches at the top of the side walls, and eight feet five inches high, has a descent of thirteen and a quarter inches per mile, and will discharge sixty millions of gallons in twenty-four hours.

Aqueduct Bridge at Harlem River.

The Aqueduct will cross Harlem river on a magnificent bridge of stone, 1450 feet long, with 14 piers, eight of them 80 feet span, and seven of 50 feet span, 114 feet above tide-water at the top, and will cost $900,000. This bridge is in progress; and for the present the water is brought across the river in an iron pipe, laid as an inverted syphon.

The Receiving Reservoir—Is at Eighty-sixth street, 38 miles from the Croton Dam, and covers 35 acres, and contains 150 millions of gallons.

The Distributing Reservoir—At Fortieth Street, about three miles from the City Hall, constructed with stone and cement, covers four acres, and is 43 feet high above the street, is 36 feet deep when full of water, and holds 20 millions of gallons. Thence the water is distributed in the city in iron pipes, laid deep under ground, to be secure from frost. A section of the wall on one side of the Reservoir, including the embankment, is 17 feet wide at the top, 35 feet wide at the distance of 16 feet below the top, and 76 feet wide at the bottom. An iron railing bounds the outside and inside of the walk around the top.

This Reservoir may be considered the termination of the Croton Aqueduct, and is distant from the Fountain Reservoir at the Croton, forty and a half miles.

The whole cost of the work will be about $12,000,000. There are laid between the Distributing Reservoir in Fortieth Street, and the Battery, 150 miles and 3,665 feet of pipe, from 6 to 36 inches in diameter, the majority of which is from 6 to 12 inches in diameter; and free hydrants are opened in most of the streets, besides the fire hydrants. There are 1400 fire, and 600 free hydrants.

Introducing of the Water.—The water was introduced into this Reservoir on the 4th July, 1842, and on the 14th of October following, the water was introduced into the city.

But little inconvenience was felt during the cold weather of last winter to the hydrants. No city in the world is now better supplied with pure and wholesome water than the city of New York.

Analysis of the Croton Water.—Croton Water, taken from the Croton dam, when perfectly clear, was found to contain 4.998, or about five grains of solid matter to the gallon. Schuylkill water, taken from the middle basin, on Fairmount, contained 4.08 grains of solid matter to the gallon.

Croton and Schuylkill Water Compared.—The Croton differs from the Schuylkill in containing a larger amount of the alkaline carbonates, and of the carbonate of magnesia, while it contains less carbonate of lime and is entirely destitute of the alkaline sulphates, of which the Schuylkill contains 13.74 parts in 100 of the total solid matters, though amounting to only one half a grain to the gallon.

Croton and Thames Water Compared.—The impurities contained in the Thames water, according to a Report from the Select Committee of the House of Lords, appointed to inquire into the supply of water to the metropolis, exceed those of the Croton by nearly six fold; and the quantity of lime held in solution in the former, surpasses that of the latter about fifteen times. The Thames water differs also from the Croton, in the circumstance that it contains an appreciable quantity of chloride of sodium, or common salt, of which the Croton is entirely free.

The Battery and Castle Garden.

The Battery—At the southern end of the city, is situated at the junction of Hudson and East Rivers. It is in the form of a crescent, and contains about 11 acres of ground, beautifully laid out with grass plats and gravelled walks, and shaded with trees. From this spot is a fine view of the bay, with its islands, and the adjacent shores of New Jersey, and Long and Staten Islands, and the scene is generally enlivened by shipping under sail.

Castle Garden—Is built on a mole, and connected with the Battery by a bridge. It was originally erected as a fortification, and having become unnecessary for this purpose, was ceded by the United States to the corporation of the city, in 1823. Within its walls, 10,000 people can be accommodated in a great amphitheatre; and it is frequently used for public meetings and exhibitions.

The Park.

The Park, called in early times the Commons, is a triangular area of about $10\frac{3}{4}$ acres, lying between Broadway, Chatham and Chambers streets, is laid out with walks, and planted with trees, and surrounded by an iron fence, which cost over \$15,653. It contains the City Hall, the new City Hall or old Alms House, and the Post-office. It has also, towards its southern part, a public fountain, within a basin, about one hundred feet in diameter, which has a variety of jets, which are occasionally changed. When the water is thrown in a single stream, it ascends to the height of about 70 feet, presenting a majestic and interesting appearance. The fountain is designed to be made yet more ornamental.

The Bowling Green.

The Bowling Green, at the southern termination of Broadway, is an elliptical area, 220 feet long and 140 feet broad, enclosed by an iron fence. It existed before the American Revolution, and formerly contained a leaden statue of George III., which was converted into bullets at that period. It contains a public fountain, which is supplied by the Croton waterworks. In the centre of a large basin is placed a rude pile of huge rocks in a somewhat circular form, about 15 feet in diameter, and as many feet high, and from the top issues a jet, and small jets around it, and presents, by the water pouring and tumbling down the sides of the rocks, a wild and picturesque appearance.

Hudson Square or St. John's Park.

Hudson Square or St. John's Park, between Beach, Laight, Varick and Hudson streets, is private property, belonging to Trinity church, but has been reserved as a permanent public square. It is beautifully laid out with walks, shaded with trees, and surrounded by an iron fence, which cost $26,000. It contains about four acres of ground, and has on its eastern side St. John's Episcopal church, of beautiful proportions, with a lofty spire. It has a public fountain, and is, perhaps, the most ornamental spot in the city.

Washington Square.

Washington Square, a mile and a half north of the City Hall, between Wooster and M'Dougal streets, contains about $9\frac{3}{4}$ acres of ground. Two-thirds of the area was the Potter's Field until 1827, and the remainder was purchased by the city for about \$78,000, and the whole was enclosed by a wooden fence, which cost nearly \$3,000, laid out in walks, and planted with trees. On the eastern side it has the fine building of the New York University, and an elegant Dutch church, both handsome specimens of Gothic architecture. On the northern and southern sides it has blocks of fine buildings, and is destined, when the trees shall be fully grown, to be a highly ornamental ground.

Union Place.

Union Place, at the northern termination of Broadway, is in an elliptical form, enclosed with a fine iron fence, having a public fountain in the centre with ornamental jets, and is a delightful breathing-place to the inhabitants. All these public grounds are much frequented in the summer season. Farther up the city are other public squares, as Madison Square, Hamilton Square, and others, not yet regulated. On the east are Tompkins Square and Bellevue, the latter the seat of the new almshouse.

The City Hall, and other Buildings in the Park.

The City Hall, heretofore regarded as much the finest building in the city, and one of the finest in the United States, has a commanding situation in the middle of the Park, though somewhat in the rear, and shows to greater advantage than either of the fine buildings to be described. It has more ornament than either the Exchange or the Custom House, but less simple grandeur; though with its furniture, it is, perhaps, the most interesting building in the city. It is 216 feet long, and 105 wide. The front and ends are constructed of white marble, and the rear of brown freestone. It is two stories high above the basement, with a third or attic story in the centre building; and there rises from the centre a cupola, containing a clock, of fine workmanship, and on the top, a colossal statue of Justice. In the upper part of this cupola is a room occupied by a watchman, whose business it is to give alarm in case of fire; and, from this elevated position, he is able to overlook the whole city. Behind this is another less elevated cupola, with eight Ionic columns, which contains the City Hall bell, weighing 6,910 pounds, whose deep and solemn tones often sound the knell of property, and by the different number of strokes, indicate the district of the city in which a fire occurs. The front of the City Hall is ornamented with columns and pilasters of the Ionic, Corinthian, and Composite orders, rising above each other in regular gradation. The building is entered in front by a flight of twelve marble steps. In the centre is a double staircase, ascended by marble steps, at the top of which is a circular gallery, floored with marble, from which ten marble columns of the Corinthian order ascend to the ceiling, where is a handsome panelled dome, ornamented with stucco, and a skylight, which gives light to the interior of the building. There are halls which lead from the centre to each end of the building in each story. In the basement and the stories there are twenty-eight offices and other public rooms, the most conspicuous of which are the Governor's room, and the chambers of the common council and assistant aldermen.

The Governor's Room is appropriated to the use of the Governor of the State when he visits the city, and has been used as a reception room for other distinguished men who have occasionally been here. It is 52 by 20 feet. The walls of the room are hung with a fine collection of portraits, including the Governors of the State, the Mayors of the City since the Revolution, some of the Dutch Governors, and the principal military and naval heroes of the late war, all of which are regarded as excellent likenesses, and many of them are full-length portraits.

The Common Council Room is 42 by 30 feet, and the president occupies the identical chair occupied by General Washington when he presided over the first American Congress, which assembled in New York. It is surmounted, as is meet, by a canopy. The seats of the aldermen are ranged in a semicircular form, in the centre of which is a table for the clerk. The room contains several fine full-length portraits, painted by Trumbull, of which that of Washington is thought to be the best in existence, when he was in the prime of life. The room of the assistant aldermen is handsomely fitted up.

The Superior Court Room is very neat and convenient, 42 by 30 feet, and neatly fitted up for its purpose. But he who looks over the several apartments of this building will obtain a better idea of it, than he can from any concise description. The building was commenced in 1803, and completed in 1812, and cost $538,734.

The Hall of Records, east of the City Hall, in the Park, is two stories high, with a lofty portico of four Ionic pillars on each front; and in the rear of it is the New City Hall, formerly the old almshouse, which contains fifteen offices, besides the Marine Court Room, and the rooms of the American Institute, the latter containing a valuable library, and various interesting models of machines.

The Merchants' Exchange.

The Merchants' Exchange covers the whole space between Wall, William, Exchange, and South William Streets. It has a somewhat confined situation, and shows to less advantage than if it were surrounded by open grounds. It is built in the most substantial form, of blue Quincy granite, and is 200 feet long by 171 to 144 feet wide, 77 feet high to the top of the cornice, and 124 to the top of the dome. The front on Wall Street has a recessed portico of 18 massive Grecian-Ionic columns, 38 feet high and four feet four inches in diameter, each formed from a solid block of stone, and weighing 43 tons. It required the best application of the mechanical powers, aided by horses, to raise these enormous masses. Besides numerous other rooms for various purposes, the Exchange in the centre is in a circular form, 80 feet in diameter, with four recesses, making the length and breadth each 100 feet, the whole 80 feet high, surmounted with a dome, resting in part on eight Corinthian columns of Italian marble, 41 feet high, and lighted by a skylight, 25 feet in diameter. On the south side of the roof is a telegraph, which communicates with another on Staten Island; and an hourly report is sent down from the telegraph to the news-room, for public inspection. When it is recollected that this fine building has been erected in the place of an elegant exchange building, burned in the great fire in 1835, it is a matter of congratulation that this building is absolutely incombustible, no wood but the doors and window frames having been used in its construction. The cost of this building, including the ground, is estimated at $1,800,000.

The Custom House.

The Custom House, at the head of Broad street, and on the corner of Wall and Nassau streets, is a splendid building, constructed in the Doric order of Grecian architecture. It is built in the most substantial manner of white marble, something after the model of the Parthenon at Athens. It occupies the site of the old Federal Hall, in the open gallery of which General Washington was inaugurated; and nearly over the front door is the place where he stood, when the oath of office, as first President of the United States was administered to him by Chancellor Livingston, April 30th, 1789. The building is 200 feet long, 90 feet wide, and 80 feet high. At the southern end on Wall street, is a portico of eight purely Grecian Doric columns, 5 feet 8 inches in diameter, and 32 feet high; and on the northern end on Pine street, is a corresponding portico of similar columns. The front portico is ascended by eighteen marble steps, and the rear portico on Pine street by only three or four marble steps. It is two lofty stories high above the basement story. The great business hall is a splendid circular room, 60 feet in diameter, with recesses and galleries, making it 80 feet in diameter, surmounted by a dome, supported by 16 beautiful Corinthian columns, 30 feet high, ornamented in the dome with stucco, and at the top with a skylight. On each side, are 13 pilasters, in perfect keeping with the pillars on the two fronts. The cost of the building and its furniture was $950,000; and including the ground, $1,175,000. It has other large apartments than those specified, for various business purposes. It is absolutely incombustible, and may be expected to stand to a late posterity.

The Halls of Justice.

The Halls of Justice occupies the space between Centre, Elm, Leonard, and Franklin Streets, and is a unique and beautiful building, of the Egyptian architecture. It is 253 feet long, and 200 feet wide, the front of which is occupied by the main building, and other outer portions of which consist of lofty walls, with apartments in some of their parts. Within this enclosure, and toward its back part, is the house of detention or prison, 142 feet long and 45 feet wide, which is entirely separate from the outer wall and building, and consists of 148 cells, for different classes of prisoners.

The Court of Sessions—Occupies a part projecting back from the front building, the roof of which is supported by lofty Egyptian columns, and it has a gallery. The front of the building is entered by eight steps, leading to a portico of four massive Egyptian columns. From this there is an ascent by twelve steps, between two massive columns, to an open area of 50 feet square, which has eight large columns supporting the ceiling above. From this area there is an entrance to the various offices and apartments of the building. The windows, which extend to the height of two stories, have massive frames, and cornices ornamented with the winged globe and serpents. The two fronts on Franklin and Leonard streets have each two entrances, with two massive columns each; and the back entrance forms a carriage way, for taking prisoners to and from the house of detention. This building, though handsome of its kind, has a heavy and gloomy aspect, which has acquired for it the name of the Egyptian Tombs. It is constructed of a light colored granite, from Hallowell, Me.

Churches—Description of Several.

Among the churches, some deserve to be particularly noticed, on account of their architecture.

The new Trinity Episcopal Church—Will, when completed, be one of the finest buildings in the city, and the most complete Gothic structure in the United States. It stands at the head of Wall Street, which it fronts. It is in the finest style of English church architecture, built of a light brown freestone, with much beautifully ornamented sculpture in its various parts, is 192 feet long upon the outside, 84 feet wide, and the steeple, when completed, will be 264 feet high, built of stone to the top. The inside will be even more imposing than the outside. The situation is fine, and it is only to be regretted that it could not have stood farther back from the street.

St. Paul's Episcopal Chapel—Is situated on Broadway, between Fulton and Vesey Streets, and the burying ground extends west to Church Street, and thus includes the whole block, 400 by 180 feet, surrounded by a handsome iron railing. The body of the church is 90 by 70 feet, with a beautiful spire, 200 feet high, painted and overcast with sand to resemble brown freestone. The church was erected in 1765, and the steeple in 1794. It has a beautiful portico of four Roman Ionic fluted columns of brown stone, supporting a pediment with a niche in the centre, containing a statue of St. Paul, painted white.

St. John's Episcopal Chapel—Situated on Varick Street, directly opposite the centre of St. John's Square, is a building of fine proportions and beautiful appearance, was finished in 1810, and cost over $200,000. It is 111 feet long, and 73 wide, built of stone, and has an admirably proportioned steeple, 220 feet high, at present the finest in the city. It has in front a splendid portico of four Corinthian columns.

St. Thomas's Episcopal Church—In Broadway, corner of Houston Street, is a large and imposing building, 62 feet wide by 113 feet deep, built of stone. It is in the Gothic style, and has two octagon towers, one on each of the front corners, 80 feet high, with pointed turrets, and a large Gothic window in front between them.

The Scotch Presbyterian Church—Corner of Grand and Crosby Streets, is a stone building, 95 feet long and 67 broad, with a fine Ionic portico of six stone columns, and cost $114,000.

The Brick Church—Corner of Nassau and Beekman Streets, built in 1767, has been recently and thoroughly repaired, and has a lofty and well-proportioned steeple.

The Rutgers' Street Church—Is a fine stone edifice, with a lofty square tower.

The First Baptist Church—In Broome Street, corner of Elizabeth Street, is a fine stone edifice, of Gothic architecture, from 88 to 110 feet long, and from 75 to 87 feet wide, with two octagon towers on the front corners, and a pointed window between them, 22 feet wide and 41 feet high. The interior is more imposing than the exterior.

St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church—In Barclay Street, corner of Church, is a large and substantial granite structure, with a very imposing Ionic portico of six granite columns, and a statue of St. Peter in a niche in the pediment.

The French Protestant Episcopal Church—Corner of Franklin and Church Streets, is built of white marble, and has a portico with a double row of fine marble columns of the Ionic order.

The Reformed Dutch Church—On Washington Square, is a large and imposing structure of Gothic architecture, and appears well, even by the side of the splendid New York University.

St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Cathedral—Is of stone, 120 feet long and 80 feet wide, but is more distinguished for its magnitude than for its elegance, though it is an imposing structure.

The Middle Dutch Church—In Liberty Street, corner of Nassau, has been recently relinquished for public worship, having been rented to the General Government for the use of a Post Office. This venerable edifice has stood for one hundred and fifteen years, and eight or nine successive generations (counting those who were aged at the time of its opening), have worshipped within its walls. On Sabbath evening, 11th August, 1844, the closing exercises were held in the church, in the view of resigning it for other uses. In connection with the usual devotional exercises, a sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. Knox, the senior pastor, from John iv. 20-24, and an address delivered by the Rev. Dr. De Witt, one of the pastors. During the Revolutionary war, in 1776, when the British took possession of the city, several of the churches were occupied and greatly injured by the British soldiery; but the Middle Dutch Church suffered the most. Being directly adjacent to the famous sugar-house, the scene of atrocious and multiplied cruelties inflicted upon American citizens, it was at once used by the British soldiery for their quarters, for a hospital, and then for a riding school in which British horsemanship was displayed. The whole of the interior was destroyed and rendered desolate. It was not till 1790 that the church was repaired, and again opened for divine worship.

Columbia College.

Columbia College, at the foot of Park Place, near Broadway, was chartered by George II., in 1754, by the name of King's College, and confirmed, with the necessary alterations, by the Legislature of New York, in 1787. It has a president and 10 professors, 1170 alumni, 100 students, and 14,000 volumes in its libraries. The building is 200 feet long and 50 feet wide, with two projecting wings, one at each end, in which are accommodations for the families of the professors. It contains a chapel, lecture rooms, hall, museum, and an extensive philosophical and chemical apparatus. The funds amount to about $200,000, and the annual income to $7,000 or $8,000. There is a flourishing grammar school attached to the institution, over which a professor presides, as rector.

The University of the City of New York.

This is a fine edifice, of white marble, in the Gothic style of English collegiate architecture, and stands on Washington Square, between Washington Place and Waverley Place. It is 180 feet long and 100 wide, with a centre building and wings, and an octangular turret on each of the four corners. The chapel, a highly finished room, receives its light from a window of stained glass in the west front, 24 feet wide and 50 feet high. The wings are four stories high, and the corner towers five stories high. This institution was founded in 1831, has a president and 11 professors, has in the collegiate department 145 students, and a valuable library and philosophical apparatus. Connected with it is an extensive grammar school, and a flourishing medical department, the whole of which contain 680 students, viz.: undergraduates, 145; medical, 323; grammar school, 212.

The College of Physicians and Surgeons.

The College of Physicians and Surgeons of the City of New York, has a handsome edifice in Crosby Street, near Spring Street, and was founded in 1807, has eight professors, and about 100 students. The lectures commence on the first Monday in November, and continue four months. Degrees are conferred by the regents of the University, at the recommendation of the board of trustees. The whole expense of the course is about $100.

The New York Hospital.

The New York Hospital, at 319 Broadway, is a collection of extensive buildings, in a handsome situation, with a fine yard. It has a large number of physicians and surgeons attached to it, and over 200 patients.

The Eye Infirmary—Has four surgeons attached to it, relieves a large number of applicants, and is a useful institution.

The Lunatic Asylum.

The New York Lunatic Asylum, connected with the New York Hospital, located on One Hundred and Seventeenth Street, west of Avenue Tenth, is a large and fine building, attached to which are 40 acres of ground, tastefully laid out in gardens, pleasure grounds, and gravelled walks, and is one of the most elevated sites on the island, from which is a fine view of the Hudson river and the surrounding country. The principal edifice is of stone, 210 feet long, and 60 feet wide. It cost, with its grounds, over $200,000, and contains about 150 patients.

The Deaf and Dumb Asylum—Institution for the Blind.

The Deaf and Dumb Asylum is on Fiftieth Street, near Avenue Fourth, or Harlem Railroad, and is 110 feet long and 60 feet wide, and will accommodate a large number of pupils, with the teachers and family of the principal. It had, January 1st, 1844, 173 pupils. It is under a principal and eight professors. Persons who wish to visit it by the public conveyances, should proceed to the junction of Chatham and Centre Streets, opposite the City Hall. From this point the cars for Harlem leave frequently during the day, and pass directly by the Institution, where they stop to receive and land passengers.

The Institution for the Blind—Is on Avenue Ninth, near Thirty-Third Street, and has about 70 pupils.

Theological Seminaries, Public Schools, Rutgers' Female Institute, Mechanics' School, Protestant Episcopal School.

The General Theological Seminary of the Episcopal Church—Corner of Avenue Ninth and Twenty-first Street, consists of two handsome buildings of stone, and was founded in 1819, has five professors, 74 students, and 7,260 volumes in its library.

The New Theological Seminary—Was organized in 1836, has six professors, 104 students, and 12,000 volumes in its library.

The Public School Society—At 140 Grand Street, had, on May 1st, 1843, 16 schools, with male, female, and primary departments, besides two schools for colored children; and 48 primary schools, besides five for colored children. The number of scholars in all these schools was 20,186. Besides these, there are established public district schools, in different parts of the city, in which are numerous children, and these schools are spoken of as being well taught and flourishing.

The Rutgers' Female Institute—In Madison near Clinton Street, has a fine granite building, a valuable library and philosophical apparatus, and 450 students.

The Mechanics' and Tradesmen's School—32 Crosby Street, has a number of teachers, and 550 pupils.

The Protestant Episcopal School—Has several teachers, and a large number of scholars.

The New York Society Library.

This is an old institution, founded in 1754, and has a handsome and substantial edifice of brown freestone, at 348 Broadway, corner of Leonard Street, with six Ionic columns resting on the basement story. It is one of the most interesting buildings of the city, and besides having spacious accommodations for the library, has also a handsome and commodious lecture room, and rooms for the Academy of Design. The library is open on every week day, with a few exceptions, and contains nearly 40,000 volumes.

The Historical Society.

This Society is located at the New York University, Wooster Street, corner of Waverley Place, and has a valuable library of 12,000 volumes, besides a collection of coins and medals. It has published several volumes of historical collections.

The National Academy of Design.

The Academy of Design, located in the building of the Society Library, 348 Broadway, was instituted in 1826, and exhibits annually a large collection of paintings by living artists, which are visited by great numbers of persons. The same painting is not allowed to be exhibited twice, so that the collection is always new.

The Mercantile Library Association.

This Association, on the corner of Beekman and Nassau Streets, was formed for the special benefit of merchants' clerks, and is one of the most useful institutions of its kind in the city. It has a library of 20,567 volumes, also a beautiful reading-room, open on week days, well warmed and lighted, and much frequented. It sustains in the winter season an interesting course of literary and scientific lectures, for which some of the best talent in the country is put in requisition.

The Apprentices' Library.

This Library, which is at 32 Crosby Street, contains 12,000 volumes, read by 1800 apprentices, and offers facilities for the cultivation of the mind, that prove exceedingly useful to young mechanics.

The American Institute.

The American Institute, incorporated in 1829, for the encouragement of agriculture, commerce, manufactures, and the arts, occupies rooms at the west end of the second story of the New City Hall, in the Park, where it has a valuable library and reading-room, and interesting models of machinery. It holds an annual fair at Niblo's Garden, where is exhibited a splendid array of the fruits of American ingenuity and industry. It is one of the most interesting exhibitions in the city, and is visited by not less than 20,000 persons yearly. By the distribution of premiums, it gives great encouragement to agriculture and the mechanic arts.

The Mechanics' Institute.

This Institute has for its object the instruction of mechanics and others in all the useful branches of science and the arts. It is contemplated to establish departments for the practical instruction of young mechanics and others, but more especially for apprentices, in those sciences which are involved in their several branches of business.

The Institute has established regular annual courses of instruction, by means of popular lectures on a variety of subjects, and especially on chemical and mechanical philosophy. It has also, at the rooms of the Institute, in the basement of the City Hall, an excellent library, containing about fifteen hundred volumes; a reading-room, supplied with the most popular reviews, literary and scientific journals, the daily and weekly newspapers; a museum of models of machinery, and a valuable collection of chemical and philosophical apparatus.

The Institute has also established an Annual Fair, by which means the results of the genius and industry of the mechanic find a ready avenue to the public eye. The proceeds of the Fourth Annual Fair were appropriated to the establishment of schools for the benefit of the children of mechanics; and a male school, under the superintendence of the Board of Directors, was commenced in November, 1838; and a female school in May, 1839, both of which have been eminently successful.

The Harlem Rail Road.

This railroad extends from opposite the City Hall, on Centre Street, to Broome Street, where it turns at right angles to the Bowery, and there it again turns nearly at right angles, and follows the Bowery to Avenue Fourth, on which it proceeds to Harlem, eight miles, and crossing Harlem river, it is extended into Westchester county as far as where the line crosses Bronx river. A part of this course is a deep cut through solid rock, with a tunnel 595 feet long, 24 feet wide, and 21 high to the crown of the arch, and a high embankment. It has a double track the whole length; and, to Harlem, cost $137,500 per mile, being by far the most expensive railroad for its length now in the United States. Within the thickly settled parts of the city, as far as Twenty-Seventh Street, the cars are moved by horses, and beyond that, by locomotives. The cars start from the City Hall once in 15 minutes.

Ferries.

The city is connected with Long Island by six ferries, four of which proceed to Brooklyn, and three to Williamsburg. Of the ferries to Brooklyn, the South Ferry extends from Whitehall, New York, to Atlantic Street, Brooklyn, and is 1300 yards wide; the Fulton Ferry extends from Fulton Street, New York, to Fulton Street, Brooklyn, and is 731 yards wide; the Catherine Ferry extends from Catherine Street, New York, to Main Street, Brooklyn, and is 736 yards wide; the Navy Yard Ferry extends from Walnut Street, New York, to Jackson Street, Brooklyn, and is 707 yards wide. Of the three ferries to Williamsburg, one is about 950 yards wide, and another, crossing East river obliquely, is about a mile and a half in length. Three ferries connect the city with New Jersey; one from Cortlandt Street, New York, to Jersey city, is about a mile wide, and two ferries, one from the foot of Barclay Street, and another from the foot of Canal Street, New York, to Hoboken, which are wider. On two ferries, boats are continually plying to Staten Island. Thus the insular situation of New York proves no serious disadvantage. The ferries to Brooklyn are by far the most important, as many persons who do business in New York reside in that city. These ferries are crossed in from four to six minutes, and at the charge of two cents.

The New York Gas Light Company.

The works of the Company are situated at the corner of Canal and Centre Streets, and nearly thirty miles of iron pipes are laid down in the city. A large number of the streets, stores, and other buildings are lighted with gas. The expense of gas for a store with four lights is about $60 a-year.

Packet Lines.

There is a line of steam-packets to Liverpool, consisting of the Great Western, to which it was intended to add the Great Britain, a large iron steamer, but she has not yet made her appearance. There are besides these, in several lines, 24 ships of the largest class, with a great capacity for freight, and elegant accommodations for passengers, one of which sails for Liverpool every five days. Two lines of twelve large ships sail for London, one vessel every ten days. Two lines, one of twelve, and the other of four large ships, making sixteen in the whole, sail for Havre, France, every eight days. Lines are also established to all the principal ports of the United States, the West Indies, and South America. There are also steam-boat lines to Hartford, New Haven, Bridgeport, Norwich, and New London, Stonington, and Providence, besides the numerous steamboats to Albany, Troy, and the various places on Hudson river.

The Number of Arrivals in 1843.

The arrivals of vessels from foreign ports in New York, in 1843, were 1832. Of these 402 were American ships, together with 153 barques, 515 brigs, and 288 schooners; 8 were British ships, together with 18 barques, 184 brigs, and 56 schooners; 16 were Bremen ships, together with 25 barques, 9 brigs, and 3 schooners. The remainder were from Sweden, Hamburg, France, and other countries, making in the whole 6 steamers, 439 ships, 232 barques, 789 brigs, 8 galliots, 355 schooners, and 3 sloops.

The Number of Vessels in the Harbor, March 16th, 1844.

In the harbor of New York may be found vessels, not only from all parts of the United States, but from the principal commercial nations on the globe. Although it has a great extent of harbor, the vessels usually lie at the wharves along South street, several tiers deep.

By an accurate enumeration made March 16th, 1844, there were found to be 1011 vessels in the harbor of New York, viz., 121 ships, 43 barques, 101 brigs, 2 galliots, 208 schooners, and 536 ordinary sloops and schooners, lying at a total extent of about seven miles of wharves. To these should be added, when the Hudson River is open, about 80 steamboats, 75 towboats of from 100 to 400 tons burden, and 150 canal boats; making a grand total of 1316 vessels of different descriptions.

The Tonnage, Imports, Duties, and Exports.

The tonnage, for the port of New York, entered in 1843, was 494,493; cleared, 398,426. The imports, in 1841, were $75,268,015; the exports were $30,731,519; and the duties paid at the port were $10,802,119. The imports and exports in 1843 were less, and the duties higher. In 1843, the imports were $50,308,520; the exports were $23,440,336; and the duties collected were $11,300,407.

Harlem, one at Yorkville, one at Manhattanville, and one at Harsenville. The engines are all $6\frac{1}{2}$ inch cylinder, except three powerful engines, which are located in the third fire district, viz.: Engine No. 22, 10 inch cylinder, built by James Smith of New York city; No. 38, 9 inch cylinder, built by John Agnew of Philadelphia, and No. 42, 9 inch cylinder, built by ——— Waterman of Hudson. There are thirty-nine Hose Companies, and eight Hook and Ladder Companies (including one at Yorkville and one at Harlem), all of which are in possession of the necessary apparatus for service. There is also a Hydrant Company in each fire district, whose duty it is to take charge of the hydrants in case of fire. The Engine Companies are as follows:—

Fire Districts.

First District.—The first Fire District shall embrace all that part of the city lying north of a line from the foot of North Moore street to the Halls of Justice, and west of a line running from the Halls of Justice, through Lafayette and Irving Places.

Second District.—The second Fire District shall embrace all that part of the city lying east of the first District, and north of a line running from the Hall's of Justice to the foot of Roosevelt street.

Third District.—The third Fire District shall embrace all that part of the city lying south of the first and second district.

For the purpose of guiding the Firemen more correctly to the fire, the districts will be subdivided, and the district bells will be rung as follows :—

1st district,	1st section,	one stroke.
do	2d do	two do
2d do	1st do	three do
do	2d do	four do
3d do	1st do	five do
do	2d do	six do

For assistance, the signal will be the continual ringing of all district bells, except that on the City Hall, which will always ring the section in which the fire is raging.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT.

The U. S. Circuit Court is held as follows:—

Equity and Criminal Terms.—The last Mond. in Feb. and July.
General Terms.—The first Mond. in April and last Mond. in Nov.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT.

The General Terms are held on the first Tues. in each month. A special Court every Tues.

NORTHERN DISTRICT OF NEW YORK

Comprising the following counties:—Albany, Allegany, Broome, Cattaraugus, Cayuga, Chautauque, Chenango, Chemung, Clinton, Cortlandt, Delaware, Erie, Essex, Franklin, Fulton, Genesee, Hamilton, Herkimer, Jefferson, Lewis, Livingston, Monroe, Montgomery, Madison, Niagara, Oneida, Ontario, Onondaga, Orleans, Oswego, Otsego, Rensselaer, St. Lawrence, Saratoga, Schenectady, Schoharie, Seneca, Steuben, Tioga, Tompkins, Warren, Washington, Wayne, Wyoming, and Yates.

OFFICERS.

Alfred Conkling, of Auburn, Judge; Anson Little, of Utica, Clerk; Aurelius Conkling, of Auburn, Deputy Clerk; Clark Robinson, of Buffalo, Marshal; Israel G. Wood, of Auburn, Deputy Marshal.

The Terms of the Circuit Court of the United States for the Northern District of New York are held as follows:—First Tues. after the third Mond. in June at Canandagua. Third Mond. in Oct. at Albany.

The District Court is held as follows:—The third Mond. in Jan. at Albany; third Mond. in May at Rochester; second Mond. in July at Utica; second Mond. in Oct. at Buffalo. One term is held annually in the county of St. Lawrence, Clinton or Franklin, at such time and place as the Judge may direct.

New York State Courts.

The Courts of Common Pleas, within their several counties, have a jurisdiction, concurrent with the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court, in civil cases. They also have an appellate jurisdiction of causes arising in Justices' Courts. The Judges of the Common Pleas, or one Judge of the Common Pleas and two Justices of the Peace, form the Court of General Sessions of each county, which have jurisdiction in all criminal cases of an inferior degree to those the punishment of which is imprisonment in the State Prison for a less term than ten years.

The Circuit Courts are each held by a Circuit Judge. Their business is the trial of questions of fact, arising upon causes of litigation in the Supreme Court. They have no original jurisdiction. They are Vice Chancellors', except in the First and Eighth Circuits.

Courts of Oyer and Terminer are held simultaneously with the Circuits. These are courts of criminal jurisdiction, and are constituted of the Circuit Judges and two or more Judges of the County Courts of the county. They have cognizance of all criminal offences.

The Supreme Court has original jurisdiction of all civil actions at law arising within the State. Practically, however, this jurisdiction only extends to where the amount in controversy exceeds $50. It has also an appellate jurisdiction in criminal cases, brought before it from courts having the original jurisdiction by certiorari or writs of error.

The Courts of Chancery comprehends all the courts of equity jurisdiction within the State. Proceedings in it are brought either before the Chancellor or one of the Vice Chancellors. All actions, where relief in equity is sought, may also be brought before the Chancellor, and any action where such relief is sought, may also be brought before the Vice Chancellor of the circuit, in which the cause of action arose; or, where either of the defendants live. The proceedings in either case are entitled "In Chancery," and the particular court, before which they are brought, is designated. In addition to his original jurisdiction, the Chancellor has an appellate jurisdiction in all cases decided by a Vice Chancellor or by any Surrogate.

Surrogate's Courts have now the probate of all wills of real as well as personal estate, the control of executors and administrators, and the charge of infants' estate. The Chancellor also has power to issue commissions, and take proof of wills of both personal and real estate, in cases where the witnesses reside out of the State; he also has power to appoint general and special guardians of the persons and the estate of infants.

The Court for the Correction of Errors is constituted of the President of the Senate, Chancellor, and Judges of the Supreme Court. It has appellate jurisdiction only, and has the review of decrees made by the Court of Chancery, which are brought before it upon appeals, and the judgments of the Supreme Court, brought up upon a writ of error. When sitting as a court of appeals from decrees made by the Court of Chancery, the Chancellor has no vote upon its decisions; and, in like manner, when acting upon writs of error from the Supreme Court, the Justices of that court have no vote. The decisions of this court are final.

STREET AND AVENUE DIRECTORY

Of the City of New York.

EXPLANATION.

If you wish to find the location of any particular house or store,—for instance, No. 80 Allen-street, on consulting the Street Directory, you will observe that 68 Allen is on the right hand of that street and the corner of Grand, and 88 Allen on the right-hand corner of Broome: hence the desired number will be on the right-hand side of Allen-street, between Grand and Broome.

Many of the streets are very irregularly numbered: this is especially true in regard to all streets above Eighth and east of Avenue 5th; and in some streets the numbers change from right to left.

Note.—The streets above Twelfth-street are divided by Avenue 5th, into East and West—as East Thirteenth, West Thirteenth—and those streets located as above described will be found, therefore, in this work, under East and West.

THE METALLIC TABLE STROP,

For keeping RAZORS in perfect order, has been in constant use for the last twenty-seven years. The following certificates are published to show their worth:—

[From Gen. James Tallmadge, President of the American Institute.]

Saunders' Razor Strop, with its four sides, combines admirably all the requisites to sharpen and set razors, with a fine and smooth edge—it is a real comfort to possess it.

New York, November, 1841.

JAMES TALLMADGE.

[From M. Milliken, Cutler to the Royal Navy, 301 Strand.]

The Metallic Tablet, in its use, is simple; having the same effect on a razor as a hone, without using oil or water, and in a tenth part of the time. After five years' trial, I can recommend it with perfect confidence.

M. MILLIKIN.

[From Professor Griscom and Dr. Valentine Mott.]

GEORGE SAUNDERS' IMPROVED STROP.—We can freely testify to its value. The side which he calls the Metallic Tablet, is, as far as we know, a thing of his own introduction in this country; it appears to be an excellent, convenient substitute for a hone, and operates on the same principle as steel does upon a table knife, but with far greater smoothness and certainty: it saves the unpleasant necessity of oil and water, to assist in whetting. The other three sides of the strop are extremely well finished, flat, smooth and almost elastic, preserving the razor from that roundness of edge which so soon destroys its keenness.

J. GRISCOM.

DR. BRANDRETH'S ADDRESS TO THE PEOPLE.

There are in the world medicines adapted for the cure of diseases of every form and every symptom. And when men follow the instincts of their nature they use BRANDRETH'S PILLS for the cure of their maladies. And those who have done so, have not had cause for repentance with reference thereto. These Pills are indeed quietly becoming the reliable medicine of mankind; for all who use them in accordance with the printed directions, find so much benefit individually, that they recommend them to all such of their friends as may not at the time be enjoying good health. These universally celebrated Pills take out of the body all diseased, decayed, or unhealthy particles; they eradicate everything from the human body contrary to its healthy condition. No matter of how long duration the complaint may have been, there is every chance of recovery when the Pills are commenced with, and it is utterly impossible for them to injure; nearly a century's use has proved them innocent as bread, yet all powerful for the removal of disease, whether chronic or recent, infectious or otherwise. We have an account to settle with ourselves as regards the pleasures and pains of this life. It is soon stated. Suppose you are highly favored by nature, having a sound mind in a sound body, the lot of but few. You cannot but be affected when you observe so much suffering from bodily infirmity around you, which neither riches nor the palliative prescriptions of physicians are able to obviate. Even the best health is insecure, unless a certain remedy can be used when the first advances of sickness come on. If, then, you would avoid this state of things, and if you are anxious to secure your own health, your judgment and long vigorous old age, take BRANDRETH'S PILLS; with them you can never err; and you will avoid all the miseries of an infirm ailing existence. Let every one whose health is not perfect take them daily for one month; instead of weakening you, you will find all your faculties of mind and body improved; all kinds of food will give you pleasure, and none whatever will disagree with you. Your digestion will proceed smoothly and pleasantly; your stomach will not require the assistance of wine bitters or drams: in fact, you will soon learn these things are injurious. The reason it is easy to explain. Digestion is affected solely by the solvent power of the bile. This bile is made by and is secreted from the blood. It is produced by the same operation from the blood as is the growth of the body, or any part thereof, as the bones, the hair, the eye, or the nails. By the use of BRANDRETH'S PILLS you expel out of the body those corrupt humors which impede digestion, and cramp nature in all her operations—those humors which produce Cancer, Rheumatism, Consumption, Piles, and, in fact, all the long catalogue of diseases to which humanity is subject, but which are reducible to one, IMPURITY OF BLOOD. Custom has designated the name of the disease, by the place upon which the impurity of the blood settles or deposits itself; thus upon the lungs, Consumption, upon the muscles, Rheumatism; if upon the skin, Erysipelas and Leprosy; upon the knee, a White Swelling; and wherever pain is felt, or any feeling in any part of the body contrary to health, there the impurity of the body is endeavoring to establish its evil influence. So in Costiveness it is occasioned by the impurity of the blood, which has become seated upon the muscles of the bowels, and which prevents the proper action of the bile to produce the daily evacuation of morbid deposits. But all these effects of impure blood are cured or prevented by the use of BRANDRETH'S PILLS. In a word, they will give the power and vigor to the human constitution it was intended to have by nature, and which it possessed before the absurd notions of the great advantages of the Tonic or bracing and mineral medicines were acted upon. Instead of finding your digestive powers and strength diminish, as you will be told by doctors and other interested persons, you will find your strength and digestion daily improve, and all the energies of your mind and body more lively and vigorous. You will soon perceive that you are every day adding to your well-being, by the simple operation of evacuating from your body the noxious humors of the blood, the source of all the pain and misery experienced in the human body. Such is the benign operation of BRANDRETH'S PILLS, that they only take out of the body what is hurtful to it, thus producing its purification and its perfect bealth.

The BRANDRETH PILLS are the best medicine for families and schools. No medicine is so well adapted for the occasional sickness of children. By having them in the house, and giving them when the first symptoms show themselves, the sickness will be the affair of only a few hours; and, in scarlet fever, measles and worms, there is no medicine so safe and so sure to cure. It is all that should be used or that ought to be used. I speak as a father, and from experience.

Ladies should use BRANDRETH'S PILLS frequently. They will ensure them from severe sickness of the stomach. and, generally speaking, entirely prevent it. The BRANDRETH PILLS are harmless. They increase the powers of life, they do not depress them. Females will find them to secure that state of health which every mother wishes to enjoy. In costiveness, so often prevalent at an interesting period, the BRANDRETH PILLS are a safe and effectual remedy.

There is no medicine so safe as this; it is more easy than Castor Oil, and is now generally used by numerous ladies during their confinement, to the exclusion of all other purgatives; and the Pills being composed entirely of herbs or vegetable matter, purify the blood and carry off the corrupt humors of the body, in a manner so simple as to give every day ease and pleasure.

The BRANDRETH PILLS are sold at 25 cents per box, with full directions, at one store in every town in the United States. Let all who purchase inquire for the certificate, on which are facsimiles of the labels on the box; if like the Pills, they are genuine—if not, not. There has yet been, I believe, no counterfeit of the new labels, and it is to be hoped there will not, for it is impossible to imagine a greater crime than that of making money by the miseries of mankind.

The public servant,

B. BRANDRETH, M. D.

Principal Brandrethian Office, 241 Broadway, New York. The retail offices are 241 Hudson street and 274 Bowery. Mrs. Booth is the agent in Brooklyn, No. 5 Market street; and J. Wilson, Main street, Jersey City; Parker, Broad street, Newark. Price 25 cents, with full directions in English, French, Spanish, Portuguese and German.

Remember the RED PRINTING on each label. Benjamin Brandreth is printed two hundred times on the bottom and under label in red ink. No Brandreth Pills are genuine unless these impressions in RED INK are on each box.

Patent Elastic Metallic Shanks,
FOR
BOOTS AND SHOES.

An Article superior to anything ever before manufactured in this country, for durability, beauty and utility.

Lorin Brooks, 138 Fulton Street, N. Y.,

Takes this opportunity of calling the attention of the public generally, to the superior advantages of adopting his improved boots and shoes, in which he has introduced the Patent Elastic Metallic Shanks. To the wearer it presents the following among many other advantages over the old method of stiffening the soles of boots and shoes by several layers of leather: by the elasticity of the shank which is placed in the inner sole, it gives a graceful turn to the foot, and is very important to ladies and gentlemen fond of dancing; to the pedestrian it gives ease, preventing the foot from pressing forward in the boot, whilst to flat-footed persons it is equally advantageous, as the arch or hollow of the boot is still preserved.

“BOUGHT IT IN WILLIAM STREET 102.”

On Olympus, one day a dispute there began,
 Between Venus and Juno—the subject was man.
 Said Venus, I think that a century ago
 Man was not so handsome as now, do you know.
 My dear, said Jove's wife, though I seldom look down
 On the creatures of earth, yet I really must own
 That I do think the men have improved, and yet why
 If I know, my dear Venus, I wish I may die.
 The improvements, said Venus, you'll mark in their faces;
 'Tis some charm, I am sure, of that trio, the Graces.
 Very likely, said Juno. Now, can't we, between us,
 Ferret out what this wonderful charm is? said Venus.
 At this moment, alighted beside them sly Cupid;
 Oh, mother! he cried, you're confoundedly stupid!
 I know what the charm is—I have it—dear mother.
 Now guess what it is—first one, then the other.
 They guessed—'twas no use—though their guesses were clever;
 So the god, who this charm had concealed in his quiver,
 Drew it forth with an air as demure as a quaker;
 'Twas the Magical Strop, of which Chapman's the maker.
 Then away like a bird the young wanderer flew,
 Shouting, “Bought it in William street, hundred and two.”
